AN HER AT LARGE

PART II-CHAPTER LIX.

It was a few minutes before midnight when Harry L. Rasher and the young assistant physician started for the Brook cottage. A light still burned in the room where lay the body of Mrs. Brook, but the adjoining room was dark.

A nurse on duty in another cottage was aroused and the three entered. A light revealed Mary lying doubled up and twisted, with bedelothing disturbed as though she had undergone severe agony. Her face was contorted.

Rasher started, a sudden key fear gripping him. The young physician, alarm in his face, seized the girl's wrist.

The young physician, alarm in his face, seized the girl's wrist.

"Thank God, she's alive," he exclaimed. "Quick! a heart stimulant?" The nurse responded with trained efficiency, despite her anxiety, and after a few moments Mary's eyelids fluttered and opened.

The physician waved Rasher back. "Not yet," he warned.

From a chair in the corner, out of direct vision, Rasher watched their skillful ministrations, and after what seemed an interminable wait was rewarded by heaving Mary's voice.

"Mother," she murmured, wan and tired, "are you asleep? I feel so queerly."

"You've been ill, Miss Brook," said the physician, "but you're all right now. Just be quiet."

She stared at him, trying to collect her faculties. "It's all so strange," she whispered, "I remember being in the canoe with Dr. Cloven and then—everything's a blank," she paused exhausted, "I must have fainted. I never did that before."

"Here, swallow this. You'll feel better."

She pushed it away. "What is it? Dr. Cloven gave me something just before we went out on the lake." Rasher stiffened in his chair.

"This won't hurt you, Miss Brook. Please drink it." She did so, choking slightly, and then spoke in a stronger voice.

"O, that's different. The stuff he gave me was sweetish. I think that's what made me ill." An anarry movement came from Rasher and she turned her head toward him, staring a long time. Gis presed her head to her eyes and then looked again in a kind of wild alarm. The physician nodded to Rasher, who came to the bedside

"I'm dreaming," she faltered, "or delirious."

"No, Mary," said Rasher gently as he took her hand, "I'm really here. I came up last evening by hand, "I'm really here. I came up last evening by plane." She seized both his hands as he bent over and kissed her.

"O, I remember now. The plane—it passed almost over us. The doctor said it was a bootlegger on the way to the border. And to think it was you—" She drew his face down to her again.

But Rasher's happiness was clouded by the thought of the shock that must soon be hers. Her next words wrenched his heart.

"Mother will be so glad," she cried. "She was speaking of you only last night. Please see if she's awake," she asked the nurse, but before the latter could move Rashes quickly intervened.

"Not tonight," he exclaimed, and glanced significantly at the physician. The nurse, of course, did not yet know of the tragedy.

"O, yes, please do," urged Mary. "This will be such good news, it surely can't hurt her."

"I think there can be no harm," suggested the nurse; "she may be awake. I think I saw a light in there as I came up." But Rasher was definite. The nurse looked at him in some surprise. Surely he must want to see Mrs. Brook, if only te gratify the eager wish of one who loved him.

A shade of disappointment crossed Mary's face. The insidious innuendoes of Dr. Cloven, so constantly with her during the past weeks, but now for the moment forgotten in her joy at seeing him, came back into her mind.

"But, Harry—" she began, when he interrupted.

"Now you must go to sleep, Mary. It's late. I'll be waiting to see you in the morning." And with a kiss, which did not conceal his uneasy desire to get away, he hurried out.

"Tomorrow will do, Miss Brook," said the young physician kindly, "I'm sure he believes he is acting for the best." He then said good night and followed Rasher.

Mary turned to the surse. "Miss Martin, please

Mary turned to the surse. "Miss Martin, please ust see if mother is awake."

Miss Martin smiled and opened the door to the next com. The room was slight. A moment later a sharp cry came from it, and Mary, filled with sudden them, leaped up and staggered unsteadly into her nother's room. The nurse tried to push her back, but one ctaines at the slient figure on the bed with the sheet drawn over the face was enough. She creamed and fainted.

"So that's why the rooms man didn't want to

The bird, which is owned by C. C. Mulligan of Vancouver, was proclaimed the winner yesterday of the song contest which featured the meeting of the International Roller Canary Breeders' association.

America's Pride, owned by James Novak of Chicago, was awarded second place, and Calvin Coolidge, owned by James Malcxynski, also of Chicago, was awarded third place.

The vigilantes of Plainfield, accompanied by church representatives from several nearty cities, journeyed down the pike last night to register their moral nonsupport of the Lake Renwick dance pavilion.

It was their second crusade within scarcely more than a week, but it failed to encounter the same success that attended their recent Saturday night descent upon a roadhouse which, they claimed, had been debauching the morals of some Plainfield young women. The roadhouse is now closed, but the dance hall, operated by prominent Joliet business men, refused to be shut.

Intend to Keep Geing.

"We're running a strickly decent place, and we intend to keep going," was the ultimatum given the Rev. George F. Courrier after several minutes of heated parley.

Dr. Courrier, pastor of the Plainfield Methodist Episcopal church, led the party of sixty vigilantes last night. He dwas accompanied by the Rev. William Aylesworth of the Aurora Methodist Episcopal church, the difference of the Plainfield Congregational church, and representatives of three other churches in Joliet, Lockport, and Plainfield.

A TRIP through this Store in A holiday - time means a tour through wonderland.

The sumptuous beauty of merchandise. in festal array; a Yuletide atmosphere that draws to the surface the impulse of friendliness—these are manifestations of the spirit of Christmas, generated by an institution of service and hospitality.

In its more than a half-century of business this institution has made the acquaintance of practically every man, woman and child in Chicago and its environs. Each of them, at one time or another, has been a guest of this Store.

It is through such close contact with the public that the organization of this Store has knowledge of Chicago's tastes, needs and preferences. The great collections here of Christmas merchandise are the crystallization of this knowledge into a year's endeavor on the part of the organization to make this Christmas surpass all others in scope and magnificence as a source of supply for gifts.

Today the ideals of beauty and quality that guide the institution are made real and visible to the multitude in the riches from all the world set before them. Here are the fruits of deliberation and labor, enterprise and innovation.

Tompkins remained in his cell today, ignoring his fellow prisoners who gathered in the cell corridors.

"He doesn't seem to realize what he has done," Sheriff Phil Westfahl said. "The horror of his crime has left no impression on his mind and he shows no remorse or regret."

District Attorney Shaughnessy will summon witnesses and hold them in readiness to testify at a preliminary hearing. Among these will be Miss EGYPTIAN NIEEE (Picture on back page.)

Blebil Betor, a wealthy cattleman of Marysville, Mont, passed through Chischool student and former public school teacher, who was mentioned gette, for whom he has made a three year fight in Egypt.

The little girl is the daughter of his brother George, who, though an American entitle girl is the daughter of his brother George, who, though an American entitle girl is the daughter of his brother George, who, though an American entitle girl is the daughter of his brother George's death, followed six months later by that of George's wife, and that is where the story begins.

Knowing George had left quite a fortune and that it would have been his brother's wish that he take care of the little girl, the Montana ranchman left for Cairo. There the child's maternal grandparents not only refused to give her up but hid her away so completely that for two and one-half years the rancher found no trace of her.

Finally, through Martin Howell, the American envoy in Chiro, the Montanan found the child and reclaimed her inheritance, amounting to £6,000.

Capt. John A. Wall, Aged

Newspaper Editor, Dies

Mount Vernon, Ill., Dec. 3.—[Special]—Capt. John A. Wall, St, veteran of the civil war and the nestor of Mount Vernon newspaper men, died this morning. The funeral will be held Tuesday. Capt. Wall, in his sective days, published papers at Salem. Pinckneyville, Marion, Carbondale, Cairo, Coulterville, Benton, and Mount Vernon, Ill., and at Cape Girardeau, Mo. He served with distinction in the civil war and was severely wounded in the battle of Stone river. In 1903, at the age of 73, he published a history of Jefferson county in one large volume. When the late John S. Bogan started the Jeffersonian in August, 1851, the first paper published in Jefferson county, Mr. Wall, then a boy of 15, assisted in the mechanical department.

ORIENTAL RUGS for Christmas Gifts

THINGS artistic are inseparably associated with Christmas-giving. There is nothing that more fully expresses the truly artistic than fine Oriental Rugs. In them you have the hand-wrought expression of the individual artist developed, in many instances, to the highest possible degree of artistic merit - worked out in an article of practical and permanent utility.

THIS remarkable collection of Oriental Rugs was selected personally by our own representatives in the Orient, and shipped to us direct. It is the result of months of travel and patient search by men who have specialized on this work all their lives.

THERE are hundreds to choose from, including practically every size and type of Oriental Rug-small mats, scatter rugs, medium and room sizes, banquet hall and palace rugs—at a bona fide saving of 25 to 50% from regular retail prices.

AN you conceive of any gift that would bring to the recipient more delight and lasting satisfaction?

Volunteer Workers Against the Proposed National Bonus

The ex-Service Men's Anti-Bonus League is dedicated to the principle that to serve one's country in time of war is a privilege as well as a duty and that for the able-bodied veteran to seek a material reward therefor is an act repugnant to the spirit of true patriotism and a violation of the fundamental principles of American citizenship.

THE AIMS AND PURPOSES of the ex-Service Men's Anti-Bonus League are twofold:

1. To defeat a bonus, gift or any other form of governmental gratuity for able-bodied ex-service men so long as they remain able-bodied.

2. To secure for every disabled veteran of the World

2. To secure for every disabled veteran of the World War the utmost in governmental care and compensation.

An Extraordinary Exhibit of Easy Chairs in Needlepoint, Hand-Loom and Other Tapestries

Y/E have just received many splendid reproductions of historical French, Italian and English chairs of rare beauty and fine workmanship. This addition to our already large collection makes one of the finest and most complete displays of period chairs in America.

These pieces were carved by hand by European carvers and sent to this country to be assembled, finished and covered. A beautiful patina finish enriches the fine carving and the covering is done in our own shops by skilled workmen.

As suitable covers we have selected the finest decorative tapestries, including hand-made Gros and Petit point needlework, hand-loom Flemish tapestries and reproductions, and Jacquard tapestries in Gros and Petit point effect.

A large purchase at a discount makes it possible for us to offer these beautiful chairs for 25% less than the usual price.

that politics involving former Frank O. Lowden's name had uenced the members to vote against Coverdale. Gen. E. H. Wood of atucky issued a statement indorsed six other members of the govern coard that ousted the secretary which he said:

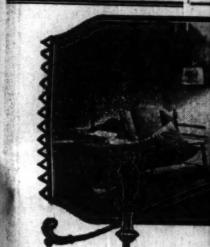

"There is no politics whatsoever in our action Saturday. I have never had the pleasure of knowing Frank O. Lowden. We fired Mr. Coverdale in order to prevent his selited policy from wrecking the American Farm Bureau federation and substituting a federation of grolified agricultural extension organizations."

Gen. Wood contends that the trouble in the bureau is a result of the secretary's "continued insubordination regarding the instructions of the gov-placed upon a professional basis by me. I am constantly associated personally with many stammerers. I often diagnose as many as one hundred cases in a single day. I have met, examined and diagnosed 20,000 cases during my life; personally and by mail I have diagnosed more than 75,000 cases, and I have corresponded with 190,000 persons who have been afflicted with this widespread speech trouble.

Through careful research I have learned all the peculiarities of speech difficulty. I understand every phase of stammering and have probably examined and dealt with more cases than any other man of the present century, or of any time. The name "Bogue" is familiar to persons who stammer in every quarter of the civilized world.

Please remember that I will not accept you as a student in my institute unless I am certain, after a personal diagnosis, that I can cure you—positively and permanently. I do not ask you to take my word for this. If I accept your case I will give you a written GUARANTEE, with satisfactory security, over my own personal signature. SHOULD you decide to place yourself under my care, you face to face, to talk with you personally, and to give you the best of my advice.

Why not make your Christmas shopping tour a happy event instead of a trying ordeal? Don't keep going until you are exhausted. Break up the strain by a visit to the Chicago or Roosevelt theatre. Sink into one of the comfortable chairs and rest awhile. Breathe the purified air. Enjoy the entertainment. You have no idea how restful and refreshing it will be.-

Remember that these theatres open their doors in the morning—the Chicago at 10:45, the Roosevelt at 9:30. From those hours until 1 o'clock, the admission price in each is but 39 cents (except Saturdays, Sundays or holidays). Yet, you get the complete performance that is given in the evening.

Come in at the noon hour, or a little before. Bring your bundles with you. We have an ample check room in each theatre and we will take care of them for you-without charge of course.

Bear this in mind, during the Christmas rush. Escape from the jostling, tiring crowd, as thousands of your friends are doing, and have been doing for several years. You will go home refreshed instead of tired out.

Balaban & Katz theatres mean just such things to the human family. They were planned and built for your pleasure—to relieve dull care—to entertain—to refresh the mind and body-to satisfy.

Open Mission for Healing by Prayer

Bishops of the Episcopal Church Sponsor Work.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON. "Do not discard your physician, ed perate with him," was the advice given by the Rev. A. J. Gayner Banks, irector of the Society of the Nazarene, vho began yesterday a healing missio in St. Simon's Episcopal church, Ra-cine and Leland seenes.

Dr. Banks is working under the au-thority of the bishops of the Episcopal church and said the church was not doing a novel thing in praying for the healing of the sick, but was simply Christ's day. Several physicians are members of the board directing the so-ciety and its healing mission.

"Sin is the breaking of a moral lav and sickness is the breaking of a physical law," Dr. Banks said, "They are both closely related. Many persons and for the sins of others not rela-"We do not advocate the aban ment of medicine or other agencies for healing. We use every human help, but we recognize that God, the creator, is also the healer, and we add prayer and will cooperate with us in prayer to register, giving name and address. There were twenty-five who registered at the morning service and many more in the evening. We think a certain amount of preparation is necessary be-fore we institute the special service of prayer for the sick, and therefore we probably will wait until tomorrow evening before beginning the direct work of healing.

"There are 5,000 members of the Society of the Nazarene and favorable responses have come to us from many sections of the country as to the value of prayers for heading."

one costume, although there may be several shades of one color used in different accessories.

A striped material should come in for double consideration when the color scheme is being decided. For instance, you may have a brown suit, and decide to harmonize with it a blue shirt and a brown and green tie. But the suit perhaps has a red line stripe running through it, faint, possibly, but obviousing the suit color problem and lavender stripes, figure, or polka dot.

The muffler also should have a place in the general scheme. In this case in the general scheme. In this case in the gray cheviot, with a purple line stripe and gray striped one, or a plain buff colored cashmere with self collar, a striped four-in-hand the off purple and gray, the purple the same shade as the stripes in the suit, while the socks worn were striped one, or a plain buff colored cashmere square, or something on that order. It is not necessary to have the same shade as the stripes in the suit, while the socks worn were striped of a neutral color, like gray or black, it is not necessary to have the same colors in the nuffler is proposed.

AYENCE, Germany, Dec. 9.

— [By the Associated Freas.]—"We are giad to meet you in sport and forget politics," was the greeting of the captain of a German association football club in introducing ten other members of his team to the captain of a team composed of French civilians stationed here, when today for the first time since 1914, German and French athletes met in competition.

"Sport makes brothers of us all," responded the captain of the French players, and the members of both teams warmly shook hands.

DEMPSEY LEAVES

Heavyweight Champion Jack Dempsey, accompanied by Secretary Teddy Hayes, Trainer Jerry Luvadis and Promoter Jim Mullen left last night for St. Louis, where Jack will engage in an exhibition bout tomorrow night in connection with the boxing show to be conducted by the Angelica A.C. Following his appearance in the Mound city, Dempsey will leave on Wednesday for New York to confer with Manager Jack Kearns about his future plans. Before he left yesterday Dempsey asserted he will go on the stage for an extended tour and has hopes of going to Europe to show in the leading cities. He asserted he has heard nothing definite from Kearns regarding any fights, but nothing will be done along this line until the outdoor season.

Jim Mullen, who makes the matches for the St. Louis club, asserted Dempsey will show his wares despite the adverse attitude of the Missouri governor, who ordered Jack's appearance stopped. Mullen asserted the club has secured an injunction and that Jack will spar a few rounds with Alex Trambitas, the coast welterweight who helped him train for the Carpenier and Firpo fights.

wehr of St. Louis.

The filing of the application, it is said, probably will be followed by instructions from the Supreme court to Judge Landwehr to take no further steps in his injunction restraining the St. Louis police from interfering with the bout until the writ of prohibition finally has been passed upon by the Supreme court, which likely will take several days.

This action, it is said, will free the hands of St. Louis police to carry cut Gov. Hyde's instructions to prevent Dempsey from appearing in the boxing exhibitions.

Larney Lichtenstein, who looks after the interests of Ernis Gooseman, coast feather-weight, is seeking a match with Johnny Dundee for the 128 pound championable. Gooseman is matched to meet Georgie Butch in one of the ten rounders of George Gwego's East Chicago show one week from tonight. Charlie White, local lightweight, will resume training today at Ferreiti's for a number of pending bouts. Despite his unexpected setback by Pai Moran in New York. Charlie believes he can best enough 135 pounders to secure a match with Bennis Leonard, the lightweight champion.

Joe Burman, who recently announced his intention of supping up into the feather-weight class, will go into training at the Arcade today. Joe intends to take things rather easy until after the holidays.
